Welcome back to 2022 – I'm sure we're all looking forward to a positive and happy year. The trust held their AGM in December and Mike Marr, our new trustee, has now joined the Trust.

We are looking forward to his contribution to the trust and (no pun intended) added energy!!

Mike was born in Pukekohe and is a New Zealand entrepreneur, he's the founder and owner of TPT Group and he holds a number of governance roles. He originally started his career at Counties Energy (then Franklin Electric Power Board) in 1987 as an electrical apprentice. His grandfather, Tom Marr, also worked there for around 40 years.

After Counties Energy, he led the distribution line contracting businesses of both United Group and Electrix.

Mike is a professional director of electricity lines company Waipa Networks, Rhema Media, Eqalis Pharmaceuticals and he also sits on the AUT University Business School Advisory Board. He is also Chair of The Runway Foundation and was recently elected as a trustee of Counties Energy Trust.
